Bounced Out of $2,000.

The bunco game was worked yesterday, and with the greatest success. The scheme was just very simple. The victim was an man of eighty-three years, who has lived in the city all his life. The sum which the rascals got was $2,000, and it was drawn from the Western National Bank only about fifteen minutes before the bunco men got their fingers on it. The victim was Mr. Joseph Horn, the well-known retired grocer. On Tuesday evening two nicely dressed young men went into 410 West Mulberry street, which house is occupied by a German woman. They asked if they could rent a room, and told the lady they would pay a dollar a day. The lady consented, and gave them a room down stairs. This room, unfortunately for Mr. Horn, had a back door, as well as a front one. Yesterday afternoon, as Mr. Horn was walking slowly across Eutaw street, he was stopped by a neatly dressed young man. They talked about the weather, and at last the young man asked if he didn't want to make some money. Mr. Horn said yes, and the young fellow said he would show him a scheme by which he could make $5,000 with $2,000. The old gentleman didn't have the money, but had some deposited in a bank nearby. The stranger proposed that he should draw the money. To this he consented and went to the Western National Bank. There he asked Mr. Vinding to make him out a check, for $2,000. The check was made out, and the $2,000 was handed him. The money was in twenty one hundred dollar notes, new, crisp ones, that had never been used before. The old gentleman left the bank, and met his friend on the steps. From there they walked up to Mulberry street, and then to the house No. 410, which is but twenty five yards from Eutaw street. They went in, and there met another young fellow. The old gentleman handed over the money, and the other gave him a slip of paper. The one with the money left the room, and then, a moment or so later, the other slipped out the back door. The old gentleman waited a little while and then cried out. The police were called, but, of course, the men were gone. When the landlady heard of the robbery, she thought she would be held as an accessory and would not be comforted. Mr. Horn then went to police headquarters and told his story. Mr. Horn lives with his nephew at 928 Harlan avenue. He returned home about six o'clock, so unnerfed and excited that his nephew was alarmed, fearing that the strain would prove too much for one of his age. About eight o'clock he was quieted and put to bed. Mr. Horn is well known in Baltimore. He was in the grocery business till eighteen years ago, when he retired. The thieves are probably well out of Baltimore by this time. It is thought that these men are the same who tried to work the scheme on South street several weeks ago.—Baltimore American.

THE CARDINAL'S HAT.—Cardinal Gibbons' red hat, together with four oil portraits of the Cardinal which arrived in New York from Rome in October, have been received in Baltimore. One of the portraits has been sent to the Cardinal's brother, Mr. John T. Gibbons, of New Orleans; one belongs to Major Kelley, and the other two come to Baltimore, one for Mr. Michael Jenkins and the other for the archiepiscopal residence on North Charles street. The portraits were painted in Paris and are excellent. The red hat is a part of the cardinalate ceremony and serves but twice, once when it was placed on the Cardinal's head by the Pope, and next when it shall rest upon the catafalque at his obsequies. It will then be suspended in the Cathedral after the manner in which the red hat of the late Cardinal McCloskey is suspended in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. In the meantime Cardinal Gibbons' red hat will be kept in a place of safety in the archiepiscopal residence. The hat is round and has a low crown and wide stiff brim, from the inside of which hang fifteen tassels. The red skull cap which the Cardinal wears indoors and under his high hat when on the street is of zuchetto.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINKLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhea, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25 cents a bottle.
